

Two things come to mind when I see an organized group of professionals attacking a competing business. One they want all the revenue and arena to themselves! Two, they do not know how to compete. Satellite radio has been a real pleasurable addition to the listening world. My husband loves to the financial news constantly and when the markets close, I can listen to something other than country music!

In addition, we travel constantly, so need the Traffic and Weather in various regions of the country. We applaud Satellite radio for providing that and eliminating the need to search thru an areas stations to find it.
